Dear Lincoln-King Adams-Young Academy Families,

Helping every child become a strong, confident reader is at the heart of our Complete Life mission. We are writing to share an update about our K-5 reading curriculum and a recent Michigan law that supports that same goal.

Michigan's new literacy law

In 2024, Michigan passed the K-12 Literacy and Dyslexia Laws (Public Acts 146 and 147 of 2024). They call on schools to teach reading using evidence-based methods grounded in the science of reading. We share this commitment and wholeheartedly support the state of Michigan's direction. It reflects what research has shown for decades about how children learn to read, and it is the approach we have built our reading program around.

As part of this work, the Michigan Department of Education (MDE) published a list of evidence-based K-5 reading curricula in December 2025. MDE continues to review and add programs. Michigan law and MDE guidance (MDE memo) does not require districts to select curriculum from the MDE list. Our K-5 reading program, Success For All, is not currently on MDE's list. When a school uses a curriculum that is not on the list, state law (Section 164k of the State School Aid Act) requires us to share that if it's not on the list that it is "not evidence-based or not aligned to state standards" through the state list process "which could negatively impact student academic outcomes."

Our approach

We chose Success for All in 2024-2025, before the state's list existed. We chose it because of its strong research base. SFA has been studied for more than 30 years, including large, independent randomized studies, and it has long been recognized as a leader in evidence-based, science-of-reading instruction. It teaches the foundational skills the new law emphasizes: systematic, explicit phonics and phonemic awareness, along with fluency, vocabulary and comprehension. It is on many states' lists for evidence-based science of reading instruction and has been featured for its approach and outcomes.

Our plan and timeline

Beginning in the 2027-28 school year, every Michigan school must ensure its reading instruction and materials are evidence-based. We will meet that requirement, and we will continue to follow MDE's guidance and adjust as needed.

Thank you for your partnership in your child's reading journey.

Sincerely,

Taiwo Da-Silva
